Term Limits ★ US Energy ★ Accountability

Endless Thanks to My Supporters!

I just concluded a great year of campaigning throughout Iowa's 99 counties! Thank you to everyone I met and especially those who volunteered for my campaign to advance my conservative message. I must extend special thanks to those who supported Lynnette's Law. While the 2014 election is over, our epidemic of domestic violence continues every day. Please keep spreading my message for domestic violence awareness, prevention, and funding. I gained a new ally in US Senator Joni Ernst, whom I hope will help enact a federal Lynnette's Law in 2015.

I recognized early on that Joni was the best candidate who could actually defeat Braley, so I ran a very strategic campaign that would accomplish that best outcome for Iowa and America, without splitting the conservative vote. While Democrats lied about Joni, I told the truth about Braley! When I entered the race, Braley had a sizable lead over Joni with women voters. I used Braley's rebuke of both (1) my proposed Lynnette's Law (accountability for violent crime) and (2) my support for domestic violence awareness, prevention and funding to take away a large block of Braley's expected Democratic and Independent voting base. I also educated thousands of Iowans that their cheap electricity comes from clean Powder River Basin coal. Braley's plan for a carbon tax would cost every Iowan thousands of dollars, and I never met a single Iowan who wanted to pay for Braley's carbon tax (even the ones wearing Tom Steyer's orange NextGen T-shirts).

Please remember and share my three key platform issues that resonated loudly with Iowa voters: (1) Term Limits, (2) American Energy that creates high paying American jobs, and (3) Accountability for wrongdoing. These are some of the key solutions to America's current problems.

Finally, please keep the laughs going and share #GotBalls with your friends! The Iowa Republican called my first campaign video "the greatest ad in political history." It shall remain on my YouTube channel and website. Jimmy Fallon featured #GotBalls on The Tonight Show during his opening monologue on the eve of the election! Creative marketing and social media gave me an amazing return on my $868 investment. The thousands of votes I earned were an amazing "return on investment" of mere pennies per vote. Compare that the DEM & GOP campaigns and SuperPAC money that poured a record $83 million into Iowa airwaves, amounting to about $80 per Iowa vote! Once again, fiscally conservative values always win out!

God Blesses You,
Bob
